Kelly Church is a member of the Grand Traverse Band of Ottawa and Chippewa Indians. She is a black ash basket weaver, birchbark biter, and painter. Kelly is very involved in the fight against the Emerald Ash Borer (EAB), and educating the public about it. She has been working with many other Native Nations throughout the United States to look at ways of sustaining the tradition of black ash basket weaving for future generations. Kelly presents and demonstrates throughout the U.S., and attends select juried Native Art Markets as well.
